

SHEEP AND GOATS MAY BE BARRED FROM RESERVE

IMPORTANT MEETING TO BE HELD FIRST WEEK IN SEPTEMBER.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Of keen interest to the stockmen of eastern Yavapai county and the owners of transient herds of sheep in Coconino county, is the meeting arranged to be held the first week in September by Dr. Newell of the reclamation service and A. E. Potter, chief of the bureau of grazing of the forest service, when it will be determined whether the grazing of goats on the Verde watershed of the Verde National Forest, or the driving of transient herds of sheep over that reserve is detrimental to the watershed, which furnishes water to the government's irrigation projects on the Salt River.

Arrangements for meetings and conferences with the owners of all classes of stock on the watershed are now being made by the officials of the grazing and reclamation services, who intend to settle for all time the question whether all sheep and goats shall be excluded from grazing on that part of the Verde National Forest. The government officials intend to make personal examinations of the watershed as well as give all interests a hearing before announcing a decision. There are a large number of goats now on the watershed and thousands of sheep are driven over it every spring and fall from the Coconino county pastures to the desert ranges of the southern Yavapai and northern Maricopa counties and back.

H. Norton Johnson, mining expert of the Prescott and Verde National Forests, has been ordered to report for duty at Beaver, Utah, July 15, for work in the Billmore National Forest. S. J. Hamerton, clerk of the forest supervisor's office here, has been ordered to report at Washington for duty in the law department of the forest service. He will leave for Washington July 20. He will be succeeded here by F. E. Bembry, clerk in the office of the forest supervisor of the Pike's Peak National Forest at Denver, Colorado.

CHICO'S TWENTY A WARM BILL FOR "CIM" AND "MUSSY"

LOSER GETS BACK MOST OF HIS MONEY AND THIEVES
GET JAIL.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Mike Mussaceo was sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Justice of the Peace McLane, in default of the payment of a $30 fine, closing the third chapter in the history of the $20 bill stolen from Chico Francisco in the Mint saloon Wednesday night by Vito Cimmarruso, which the latter claimed he swallowed.

Mussaceo was serving a ten days sentence in the county jail on the charge of contempt of court in connection with the trial of Cimmarruso, when he recovered the $20 bill from a cache underneath the Mint saloon, and paid $5 to Under Sheriff Neagle, balance due on a $10 fine for contempt of court. He was arrested later Saturday night by Night Officer Barclay and lodged in the city jail while engaged in a game of poker in one of the Whiskey Row resorts. In addition to the jail sentence, Mussaceo was ordered by the court to return the remainder of the stolen $20 found in his possession by the arresting officer to the rightful owner.

Mussaceo will have seven days of his sentence to serve when Cimmarruso, who confessed to swallowing the greenback, is released from the bastille.

Jose Ochoa and A. Escalante, who pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing $10 from A. Gomez, were each sentenced to ten days in the county bastille in default of $10 fines.

The preliminary examination of Bartolo Sequeros on the charge of shooting Modesto Acosta in the Hotel de Saloon on South Granite street Friday night was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

WAGON ROAD NOW COMPLETED TO THE VERDE RIVER.

(From Sunday's Daily)

Work on the wagon road of the Arizona Power Company is progressing steadily and it is now completed to the Verde river, the site of the main power plant, and partly completed three miles on the east side of the river towards the Fossil creek springs. All the employees were given a holiday on the Fourth and a wagon load of refreshments were served free to the men, as was also a barbecue. Everything passed off quietly barring a few harmless mix-ups.

The tunnels to convey the water through the hills from the springs to the river are being pushed as rapidly as possible under present conditions. They are under the supervision of N. Clemens, president of the Clemens Construction Company, which has the contract. Mr. Clemens is a miner and contractor of many years' experience and understands his business thoroughly and as he is paying the union scale of wages, he should be able to secure competent miners. From present indications, it is probable the tunnels will be completed without the use of machine drills. At the present time there are about 28 men employed but the force will be increased as soon as more supplies and material are brought in.

OLYMPIC GAMES OPEN TODAY IN LONDON

Special to the Journal-Miner.

LONDON, July 13.—In the presence of thousands of interested spectators and with ceremonies befitting the importance of the occasion, the great Olympic stadium in Shepherd's Bush was formally opened today by King Edward. His Majesty declared his warm personal interest in the contests about to begin and expressed the belief that the friendly competitions would tend to strengthen the cordial relations among the nations of the world. Similar sentiments were conveyed in a brief speech by Lord Desborough, the president of the British Olympic Council, and to whose untiring efforts is largely due the perfection of the arrangements for the great athletic meet.

All London appeared interested in today's event at Shepherd's Bush. Hours before the time fixed for the opening ceremonies the transit lines to the West End of London and all they could do to accommodate the rush of travel.

It was the first time that the great majority of those in attendance had an opportunity to view the stadium. Exclamations of surprise and admiration were to be heard on every hand. The giant amphitheatre, completed at a cost of $300,000, has a seating capacity of 70,000. Besides the spacious field the great arena contains a 110-yard swimming tank and two one-third mile running tracks. Erected at regular intervals around the edge of the arena were Venetian masts and from these there fluttered today the colors of all nations. The climax of the opening ceremonies came when the two thousand and more athletes entered for the games paraded about the arena, receiving the cheers of tens of thousands of onlookers.

Today was given over entirely to the opening formalities. The games will begin tomorrow and continue until July 25. During this time the pick and flower of the athletic world will strive with every effort to win glory and fame and the plaudits of the multitude. Never before in the history of the world has an athletic event of greater importance been held or one in which a keener pitch of enthusiasm has been aroused. The Olympic contests of ancient Greece pale into insignificance in comparison with the present meet. In the variety of competitions and in the number and representative character of the entrants the meet has never been equaled. Hundreds of visitors have arrived in London from America, Australia, South Africa and continental Europe to watch their countrymen contend for the trophies and to cheer them on to victory.

The scope of the programme is enormous. Prizes, mostly gold, silver and bronze medals, are offered for the following events:

Athletics, archery, cycling, fencing—epee, sabre, and foil—association football, rugby football, golf, gymnastics, hockey, lacrosse, lawn tennis (grass and covered courts), motor boats, polo, racquets, rowing, shooting—rifle, miniature rifle, revolver and pistol—clay bird shooting, skating, swimming, wrestling and yacht racing.

The games are held only for amateurs, and for each sport a separate definition has been designed. Besides the Olympic Prize Medal, a certain number of challenge cups are offered, and special certificates will be given for specially fine feats.

The national prize probably will fall either to England or America, for there are a number of the contests, such as hockey, lacrosse, lawn tennis and football, in which the continental countries have not a chance. But the latter are going to make a special effort to show England and America that though they can't play polo they are very proficient in many other branches of sport. Belgium expects to capture many prizes in the aquatic events, and the Swedes and Germans probably will carry off all the laurels in the gymnastic contests. Greece will be strongly represented in the discus throw and in the track events.

The team from the United States, comprising more than three score of famous athletes, will undoubtedly capture its full share of honors. In the running events and in many of the field events the wearers of the Stars and Stripes are already prime favorites. And in the weight-throwing events, with Martin Sheridan and Ralph Rose, the American team is conceded to be unbeatable.

Canada likewise is expected to prove a strong factor. Several of the events, such as hockey and lacrosse, appeal especially to the Canadians. Canada likewise hopes to make a good showing in some of the field events, but will have a small chance of winning any of the track events unless it be the Marathon. In Longboat and Coley, Canada has a pair of runners who are as fine representatives as any country will have in the long race.

The 25-mile Marathon race is, in fact, the most popular event of the entire Olympic programme. It will start from the grounds of King Edward's palace at Windsor and end with a 600-yard final dash around the stadium track. The entry list numbers nearly 100.

Contractor D. B. Moon started the concrete work on the foundation of the new hospital building at Fort Whipple yesterday. He mixed and laid a yard of concrete every 25 minutes with nine men, which is considered better than the average for this class of work. The concrete will extend seven feet above the foundation footing, with brick walls above. The plan calls for an eight-room building, forty by seventy-four feet in dimensions, with partitions of concrete and brick. Contractor Moon expects to have the hospital ready for occupancy October 1.

INGRATE GETS 50 DAYS FOR MEAN CRIME

ROBBED THE MAN WHO GAVE HIM SHELTER IN HIS HOME.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Because he stole the man's watch, who allowed him the shelter and comforts of his home in Ash Fork, Albert Walters is now serving a fifty day sentence in the county jail. Walters was brought here last Saturday and lodged in the county bastille by Deputy Sheriff Charles Mainze, who arrested him a short time after the theft was committed.

Walters claims to hail from Chicago. He blew into Ash Fork last week and made the acquaintance of the engineer of the pumping plant, informing him that he was out of funds. The engineer allowed him to stop at his place and was amazed Monday morning to find his watch gone. He immediately notified Deputy Mainze, who found Walters and the watch chumming.

NEVADA NOT TO BE COMPARED TO YAVAPAI

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Thoroughly convinced that there is no section of the west equal in mineral resource to Yavapai county, Frank Webb, who resided here a number of years before going to Nevada a year ago, returned yesterday.

"No part of Nevada, that I saw, compares in any way with this county in mineral resources," he said. "Some of the districts I visited have two, possibly three mines in operation. In addition to this there are many instances of mines under development, which are promising but do not compare in any way with the undeveloped prospects of Yavapai county. Mines that employ a number of men here, with what is considered fair showings, outclass many of the properties being boomed in the Sage Brush state. Miners leave disgusted when they realize that they have been beguiled into the boom camps by judicious advertising.

"Personally I am glad to be back in good old Yavapai county, which has a brighter future in a mineral way than any district of the west with which I am familiar," he concluded.

Webb formerly worked in this county as a miner and hoisting engineer. He was employed some years at the Gladstone, McCabe and other large gold producers of the county. He also mined in Colorado and New Mexico.

SMALL VEIN GOES THOUSANDS TO THE TON

(From Tuesday's Daily)

After a short visit here yesterday, W. L. Comer left for his camp at the Eberhart mine in the Walker district, where he and his associates are engaged in taking out a carload shipment of ore. Comer saw a specimen of the rich find made on the property three weeks ago, a full account of which appeared at that time in the Journal-Miner. Some of the ore carries thousands of dollars in gold to the ton. Ore of the same character as that found on the apex of the vein where the rich strike was made was encountered recently in a drift eighty feet beneath the surface. There is only a small streak of the high grade product, but the paystreak of shipping ore ranges from six inches to a foot in thickness.

Mr. Comer said that a general revival of the mining industry was apparent in the district. Work is progressing favorably on the unwatering of the Pine Mountain shaft and a number of prospectors are taking out shipping ore on their claims.

Developments in the Lamarine shaft are also satisfactory to the management of the Inter State Gold Company, operating the Lamarine and Pine Mountain groups. A steady stream of wealth continues to pour out of the accidental mine, under exploitation by the Poland Mining Company. The mine is being worked from Poland through the Poland tunnel.

Placer miners are also busy on Lynx creek since the recent summer rains assured them a plentiful supply of water.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Tonkin, who arrived Sunday from Los Angeles, left for the camp of the Inter State Gold Company yesterday afternoon, Mr. Tonkin being president and general manager of the concern.

ROOSEVELT FAVORS AN ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION

NEW YORK, July 11.—Upon his return from his next experience in search of the North Pole, Commander Robert E. Peary will organize a national antarctic expedition to explore the southern polar regions. It is said the project has the endorsement and support of President Roosevelt.
